

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS xiii

FOREWORD by Garrick Ohlsson..... xv

PREFACE xvii

CHAPTER 1: PREPARING THE CONCERT PIANO

THE INSTRUMENT 1

A PROVEN ROUTINE..... 3

THE CONCERT CHECKLIST 9

DEALING WITH THE UNEXPECTED..... 15

 Lack of notice 15

 Change of schedule 16

 Change of pianos 17

 Change of pianists 17

 Broken string..... 17

 Intermission touchup or repairs 18

THE PINNACLE 20

INTERMEZZO #1

Bob Glazebrook—“You learn so much about people” 21

Randolph Hokanson—“We just long for the perfect piano” 29

Kathy Smith—“I’m still having a good time” 32

CHAPTER 2: TUNING FOR CONCERTS

THE GOAL: A SOLID, BREATHTAKINGLY FINE TUNING 37

CREATING THE CONDITIONS FOR A STABLE TUNING 38

 The piano’s environment 40

 Stage lighting 41

 HVAC..... 42

 Outdoor concerts..... 42

TUNING TECHNIQUE 43

 Analyze the existing tuning 44

 Tuning-hammer technique 44

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

CHAPTER 2: TUNING FOR CONCERTS (continued)

How hard to hit	46
Testing the string	47
The forearm smash	47
ELECTRONIC TUNING AIDS	48
THE PIANO'S CONDITION	49
Dealing with high string-bearing friction	50
Dealing with low string-bearing friction	51
THE ART OF TOUCHING UP A TUNING	52
Why do a touchup?	52
How long do you have?	53
Unisons	53
TIPS FOR FASTER TUNING	54
The most efficient tuning order	54
Avoiding a flat treble	56
Quick treble tip	57
Know the repertoire	57
MODIFYING TUNING STYLES	58
For the artist	58
For the repertoire	59
For the venue	59
A GOOD EXPERIENCE	59

INTERMEZZO #2

Richard Glazier—Making a Difference	61
Linda Marten—Enjoying the Ride	64
Max Wilcox—On Record	67

CHAPTER 3: REGULATING FOR THE ARTIST

THE GOALS: EVENNESS, SPEED, POWER, COMFORT, CONTROL	77
ACTION NOISES	78
Loose parts	78
Hard knuckles	78
Worn key bushings	80

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

BEDDING THE KEYFRAME: A SOLID FOUNDATION.....	80
Fred Drasche's Steinway method	80
Glide adjustment with paper.....	84
Quick assessment of glide bedding	85
Bedding the front rail	87
Keyframe noise at the ends of the keyboard	89
Bedding the back rail.....	89
THE AFTERTOUCHEQUATION	90
CREATING CONTROLLABILITY.....	93
Action centers	93
Jack-to-knuckle.....	95
Letoff and Drop	95
Side friction	96
TOUCHWEIGHT	98
The touchweight formula.....	98
Controlling touchweight friction.....	100
Changing touchweight by regulation	102
Touchweight, inertia, and leverage.....	104
DAMPER AND PEDAL REGULATION.....	104
Correcting leaking dampers.....	105
Right or left string doesn't damp	107
No strings damp.....	108
Only middle string damp.....	109
Damper lift with pedal	110
DAMPER AND PEDAL NOISES	112
Oinking dampers	112
Whooshing dampers	116
Damper pedal	117
Shift pedal	118
FINAL DETAILS.....	122
Keys: To clean or not to clean?	122
Alleviating slippery keys	123
The bench.....	124
Positioning the piano	125

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

INTERMEZZO #3

Ulrich Gerhartz—The Quest for Perfection	126
Garrick Ohlsson—“It’s like an artist using different brushes”	133
Mike Miccio—“You can do anything”	141

CHAPTER 4: THE ART OF THE TONE REGULATION

THE GOALS: DYNAMIC RANGE, COLOR RANGE, EVENNESS.	149
THE BELLY.	150
The soundboard	150
The bridges.	152
Dead spots	153
THE STRINGS.	154
Tubby bass strings	154
Loose windings	154
Deadness in plain-wire strings.	155
Leveling the strings	155
Seating the string	159
The duplex scale	160
THE PIANO HAMMER	162
FITTING HAMMERS TO STRINGS.	163
CREATING EVENNESS	169
An even touch—the key to even voicing	170
Evenness at softer levels	170
Evenness at louder levels.	171
Marking the keys	172
Two types of hammers	172
WORKING WITH SOFT-PRESSED HAMMERS	173
Filing	173
Lacquering	177

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

WORKING WITH SOFT-PRESSED HAMMERS

Needle voicing.....	178
Marking the hammers.....	179
Shift-position voicing.....	180
Normal-position voicing.....	183
WORKING WITH HARD-PRESSED HAMMERS.....	185
Needling and other techniques to open up the felt.....	185
Filing hard-pressed hammers.....	188
Scratch voicing.....	191
Resetting the felt.....	192
Hardening with chemicals.....	193
A FINAL WORD: SKILL VERSUS JUDGMENT.....	194

INTERMEZZO #4

Charles Ball—“Your source of happiness needs to be in making them happy”.....	195
Ursula Oppens—“Find how to make that particular piano sound and feel its best”.....	199
Ron Coners—“Always listen to the pianists”.....	202

CHAPTER 5: CONCERT SUBSPECIALTIES

SOLO RECITAL.....	209
CHAMBER MUSIC.....	213
CONCERTO.....	214
RECORDING.....	215
MULTIPLE PIANOS.....	215
Arranging the pianos on the stage.....	216
Tuning more than one piano for a concert.....	217
What are the limits?.....	218
Same sound versus contrasting sound.....	219

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

CHAPTER 5: CONCERT SUBSPECIALTIES (continued)

“PREPARED” PIANO	220
Applying “preparation” objects	221
Marking strings	222
HARPSICHORD AND FORTEPIANO	223
Tune sharp	223
String materials and scaling breaks	224
The 4’ rank	225
Quick fixes	225
Hangers	225
Notes don’t damp	228
Broken plectrum or tongue	229
Broken string	229

INTERMEZZO #5

Jill Timmons—“It doesn’t matter where you play”	230
Michelle Stranges—“It was kind of like being a rock star myself!”	234
Lorin Hollander—“They are giving me my voice”	238

CHAPTER 6: THE HUMAN FACTOR

TECHNICIAN OR ARTIST?	243
TECHNIQUE VERSUS MUSICALITY	244
THE PSYCHE OF THE TECHNICIAN	245
THE PSYCHE OF THE PIANIST	246
LIFE IN “THE ZONE”	248
INTO THE SUNSET	249

APPENDIX A: THE CONCERT CHECKLIST	251
---	-----

APPENDIX B: DIAGNOSTIC CHART	252
------------------------------------	-----

RECOMMENDED READING	255
---------------------------	-----